MYRO REBRAND

Kiara Gonzalez-Layne

Myro

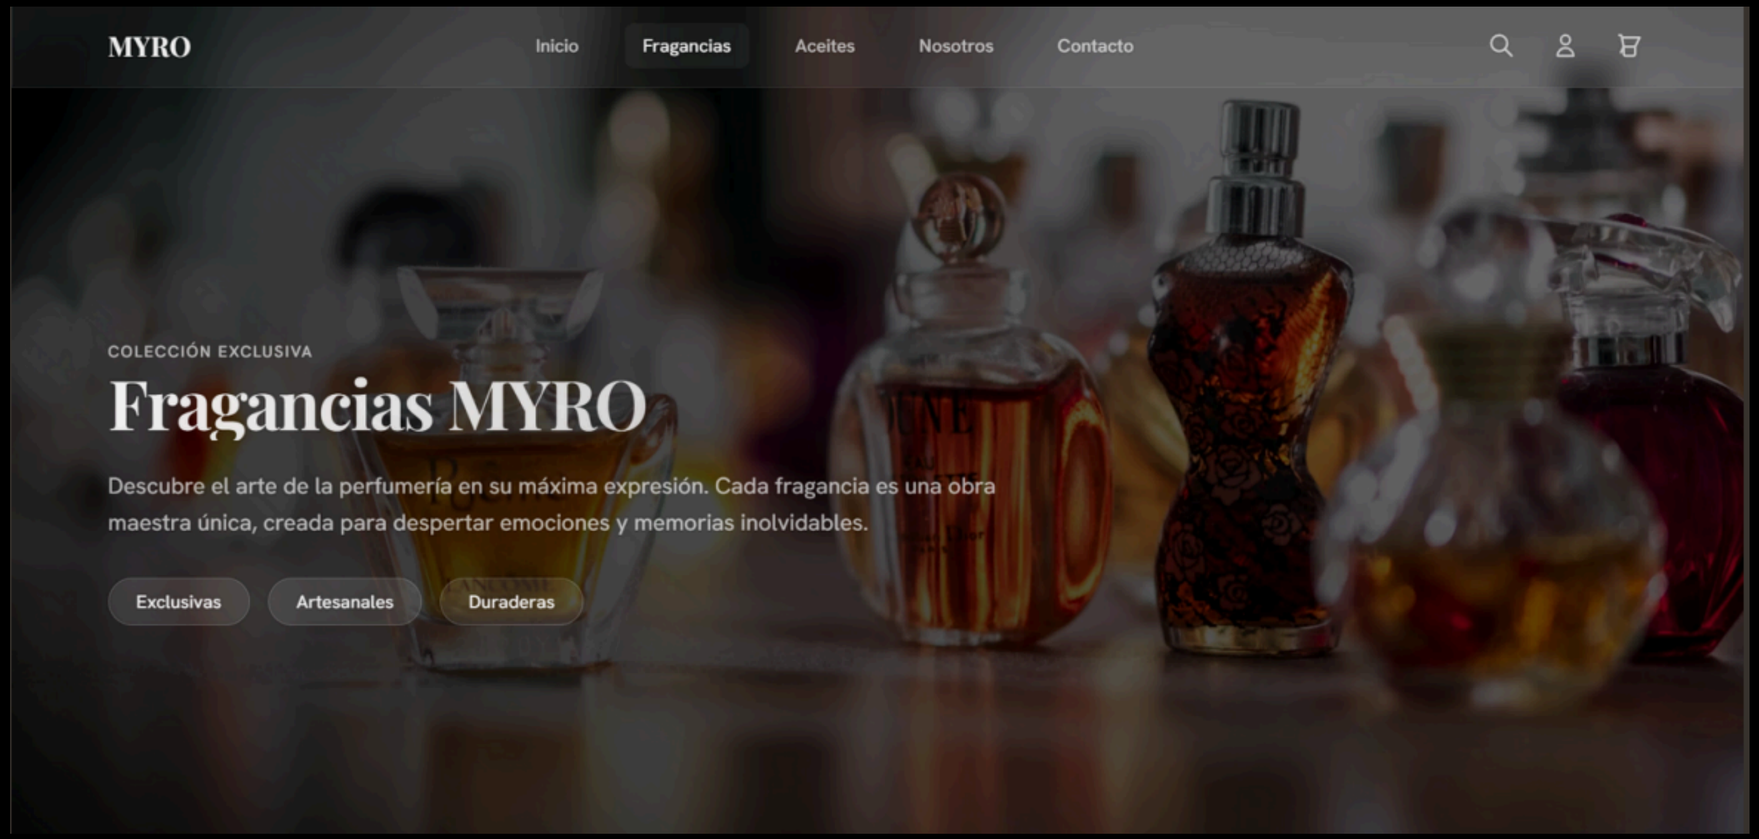

Myro is a fragrance and essential oil brand that works to deliver high-quality and sustainable scents. It has competitors such as PHLUR, NEST New York, and doTERRA. Myro chooses to focus on 100% natural ingredients to deliver to their clients who wish to get into wellness, identity and health.
Myro offers non-toxic, clean, and safe ingredients, ensuring wellness-focused consumers feel protected. They offer a wide variety of scents that are designed to feel personal, mood, memory, and individuality, helping clients express their authentic selves. Scents are framed as part of self-care rituals, offering moments of pause and emotional freedom in a busy lifestyle.

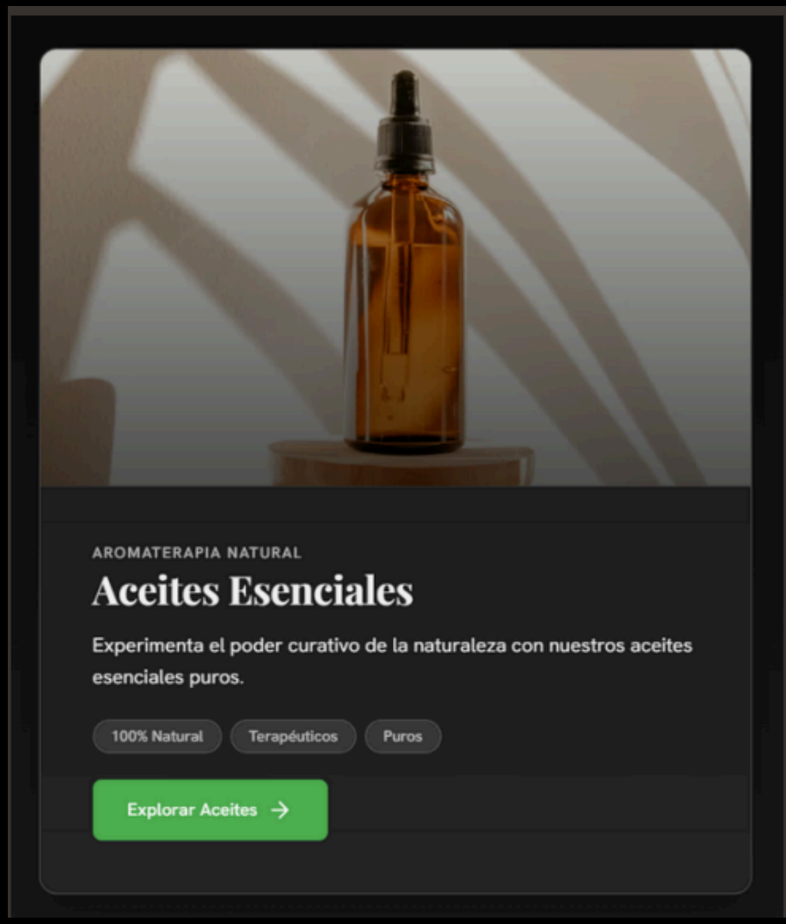

Competitive Landscape
PHLUR is known for their clean fragrances and popular scent as "vanilla skin". However they have complaints about their scents not being long lasting.

NEST New York, They offer exclusivity and high quality fragrances, and candles. They have put in a lot of work making sure their brand is CLEAN as they're PETA certified. But, remain inaccessible to many consumers due to very high pricing.

doTERRA, they're a high quality essential oil brand and they're very well known in the wellness space. Having a 2 Billion market size. However, they market themselves as clean and natural and those claims have not been backed up. As clients get allergic reactions, and their faculty isn't regulated often.

This landscape leaves space for Myro to bridge luxury and inclusivity, emphasizing authentic storytelling, sustainable sourcing, and ritual-driven use of fragrance and essential oils.

Vision

OVERVIEW OF THE BRAND'S VISION

Aurea envisions a future where fragrance is more than a finishing touch it’s a daily ritual of care, clarity, and self-expression. We aim to lead the natural fragrance space by crafting scents that are 100% clean, non-toxic, and grounded in botanicals, so people can trust what they put on their skin as much as what they put in their bodies.

Our vision is to bridge luxury and inclusivity, making high-quality, sustainable fragrance accessible to wellness-minded individuals who refuse to choose between safety, style, and self-worth. Through transparent sourcing, responsible production, and honest storytelling, Aurea seeks to build a community that values authenticity over trends and substance over hype.

Ultimately, we aspire to create a world where every scent supports emotional well-being, celebrates individuality, and honors the planet that inspires our fragrances.

INTER

LANDSCAPE

Today’s fragrance market is split between synthetic luxury brands and natural wellness brands that often lack true credibility or sophistication. Women seeking clean, high-quality scents struggle to find options that feel both trustworthy and luxurious. Aurea fills this gap by offering 100% natural fragrances that combine aesthetic beauty, emotional wellness, and honest transparency—bringing refined, nature-driven luxury to a space that desperately needs it.

WHO WE’RE FOR

Aurea is made for all genders ages 25–39, but mostly women who value beauty, wellness, and authenticity. They lead fast-paced lives and seek small rituals—like lighting a candle, applying an oil, or refreshing a room with fragrance—that help them slow down and reconnect with themselves. They appreciate thoughtful design, clean ingredients, and products that feel both luxurious and trustworthy.

Platform Justification

Instagram posts, Instagram stories

Instagram is perfect for posting images as it’s very visually focused. It’ll help connect with younger adult audiences as the largest groups on Instagram are predominantly 18-24 and 25-34 years old. Making up over 60% of the global audience.

Instagram would fit our brand as:

- It’s aesthetically focused
  - Aurea values luxury + natural beauty + and design. Instagram is perfect for a consistent brand visual through colour palettes, typography and curated posts
- It’s great to build a brand identity
  - Posts and Reels can help to explain the clean/natural benefits of Aurea. It’ll help curate and tell the story of our brands “why” in a polished way. Posts can help curate a strong brand identity
- It’s a great way to connect with audiences
  - It could be a way to build a strong relationship with our consumers
- It’s a good way to promote
  - It’s a good way to promote upcoming sales, brand deals, etc.

Platform Justification

TikTok posts, Tik tok videos

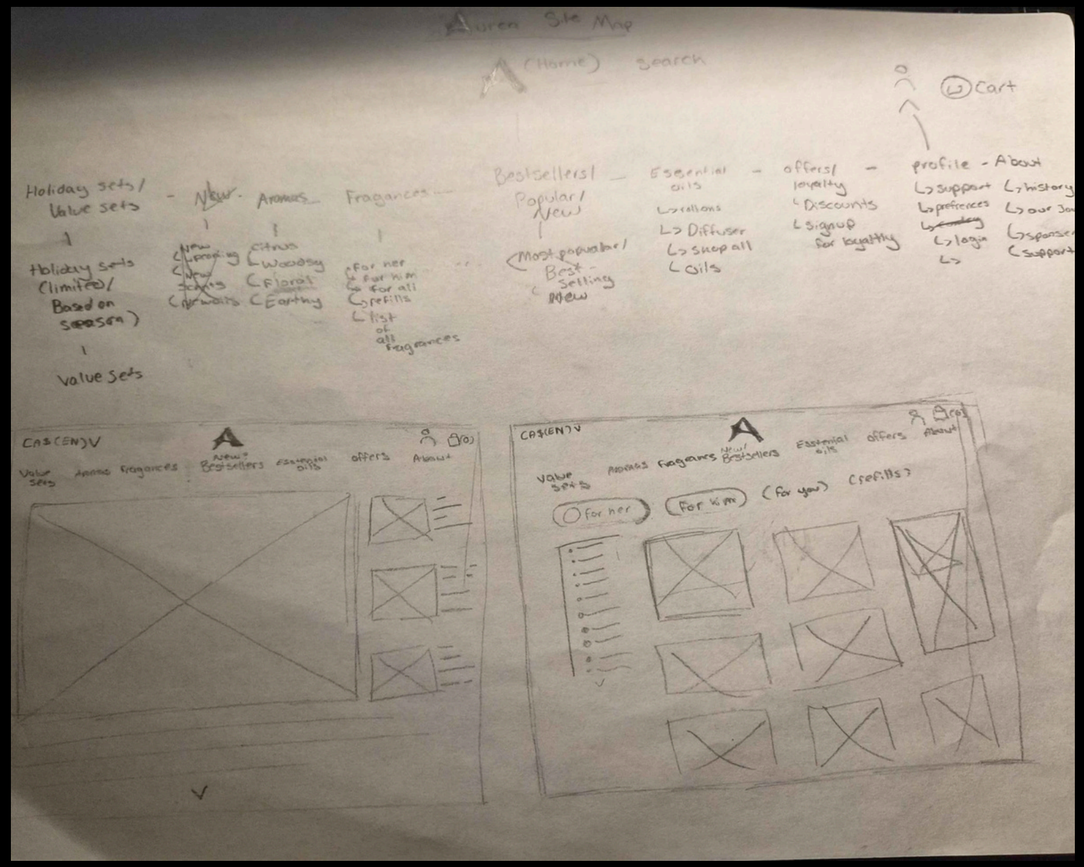

Instagram is perfect for posting videos, including short-form and long-form content, as well as storytelling, to connect with our audience. Most people who use TikTok are ages 18-34, which is the perfect age range for our brand.

TikTok would fit our brand as:

- Short-form storytelling content thrives there
  - TikTok focuses on videos; this way, we can create compelling storytelling content. Aurea is about mood, rituals, and wellness. TikTok thrives on POV, day-in-the-life content, small rituals, and sensory experiences. This creates a great way to connect with audiences, and you can use our products in your daily life.
- People value authenticity more on TikTok
  - The natural and honest tone of Aurea aligns with how TikTok users connect with brands
- Trend adaptability
  - You can easily participate in trends while keeping the quiet-luxury aesthetic. As there are new trends every month on TikTok

Instagram posting times

Tuesday-Thursday, 11 am-6 pm.

Research shows the strongest posting time is midweek, which will be Tuesday-Thursday. The best time periods to post are around late morning through afternoon, 11 am-6 pm. To connect with my audience, which consists of working adults, posting around 11 am-1 pm is great for people's lunch-time scroll.
However, the weekend mornings are perfect for people who value wellness and self-care (8 AM - 10 AM) for those with more time for longer workouts and self-care

TikTok posting times

Monday-Thursday, 5-9pm

Research shows the best times to post on TikTok or in the evening, around 5-9 pm. They suggest Monday-Thursday. Saturdays in the late morning and evenings work well for weekend relaxation content.
TikTok also has TikTok Analytics to track who engages with your content, and when, and it could easily be found in your settings

Engagement strategy

Quick hooks can grab people’s attention

Hook ideas:

- “you’re using this wrong if…”
- “If you want _____, try this…”
- “POV: You finally found _____”
- “before you buy ____, watch this.”

This formula works as it introduces a problem, providing a solution, giving visual proof and giving a call to action.

Hashtag ideas:

#Aurea, #cleanfragrance, #wellnessbrand, #skincare, #selfcareroutine #gwrm #morningritual.

Hashtags help connect you with the niche/audience you want to curate.

Sounds + Trends:

- GRWM
- picking an audio that fits my brand mood (calming music, R&B)
- Self-care trends, new product trends, skincare or fragrance layering trends

KPI

For KPI, we can track things like: Views, Follower growth, and profile visits. But we will get more value from seeing what our consumers saved to create more content from posts that have a lot of views.

We can track our average view duration, completion rate and watch time to see what time format suits our consumers.

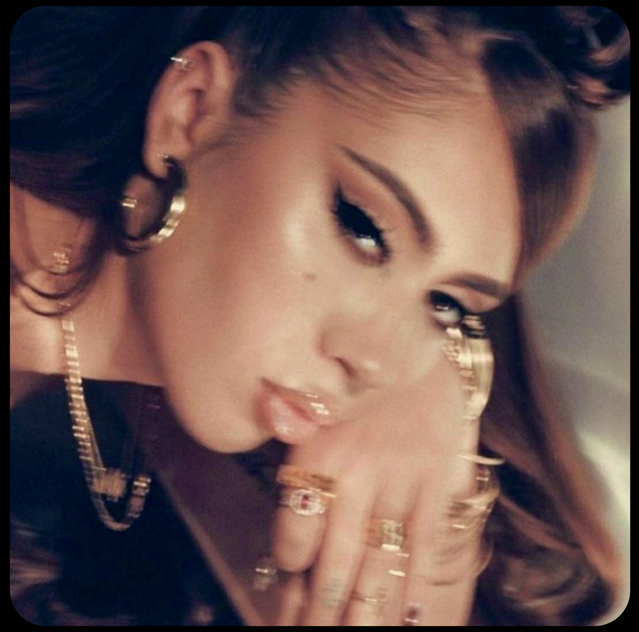

We can also track our Conversion intent. How many link clicks we get to our offical shop, product page taps, DM’s and Inquiries.
On TikTok, there’s TikTok Shop (US) and we can see what our consumers are buying the most.

Brand Partnerships

Aurea can have brand representatives and collaborate with influencers who further align with our brand values

OLANDRIA CARTHEN

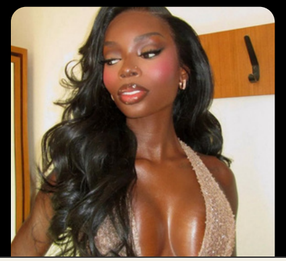

KALI UCHIS

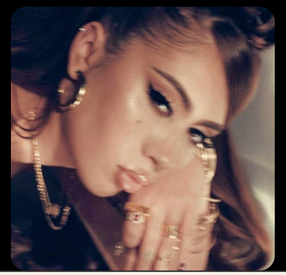

HANNAH BRONFMAN

Brand Partnerships

OLANDRIA CARTHEN

Why: Olandria is emerging as a fashion/beauty-forward pop culture figure with strong social buzz and brand-collab momentum coming out of Love Island. That makes her a good awareness driver for a modern beauty/wellness brand looking to feel current and culturally relevant

KALI UCHIS

Why: Kali Uchis already aligns with clean, ritual-based self-care through her brand Homebody, which emphasizes non-toxic, clean, wellness-centred products. That shared value space makes her a highly credible fit for a clean-luxury or wellness-beauty brand partnership narrative.

HANNAH BRONFMAN

Why: Hannah Bronfman is a wellness authority who built a health/beauty/fitness platform (HBFIT) and consistently shares routines, product recommendations, and lifestyle wellness content. She’s good at building trust with consumers, educating them and sharing her real opinions.
